U.S. PLANES WHIPPED JAP FLEET

FINAL CHERBOURG ASSAULT IS OPENED

PLANES, ARTILLERY CLEARED WAY GROUND ATTACK ON THURSDAY

GREATEST ASSAULT SINCE INVASION DESIGNED TO OUST GERMANS

By WES GALLAGHER
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22.—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces unlimbered this afternoon their greatest assault since the storming of the beaches of Normandy—a combined land and air attack intended to crack the last defenses of the fortified city of Cherbourg.

The attack began when waves of British and American planes swept in with a terrific aerial barrage lasting 80 minutes, a field dispatch from Associated Press War Correspondent Don Whitehead reported.

Rocked back on their heels by the weight of this assault in which light and medium bombers dropped down almost to sea-level level to drop their explosive charges, the Germans were immediately beset by a thunderous artillery poundings which left smoke and flame whirling the German forts.

American doughboys of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's army moved up in position to receive the effect of these blows, then swept forward.

Hammering at Fort.

They last were reported hammering at Fort Du Roule, only about 1,500 yards south of the military port, and Fort Coteville, only slightly farther away to the southwest.

The latest headquarters announcements showed that the combined attack had virtually split the German garrison into three segments.

Bradley's troops captured St. Pierre Eglise, 8 1/2 miles east of the port and the last road junction leading to Cherbourg from Cape Barfleur, isolating the Germans in the northeastern tip of the peninsula. Other troops coming up from the south had entered Quettehou, a large town near St. Vaast La Hougue on the east coast and 13 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

On the west another spearhead had practically split the Germans in Cherbourg from those in the northwestern tip of the peninsula by advancing to within half a mile of Beaumont-Hague on the road to Cap De La Hague. Beaumont-Hague is the last German position on the peninsula.

GALAXY OF MOVIE, STAGE AND RADIO STARS HERE SATURDAY TO PARTICIPATE BOND RALLY

Gene Autry, one of the most colorful Western stars from the Hollywood hills, and now a sergeant in Uncle Sam's Air Corps, stationed at Love Field in Dallas, with the Fifth Ferrying Group, will head a unit of film players and war heroes at the huge Fifth War Loan bond rally in Corsicana on Saturday at 3 p. m. as one of the groups of "Stars Over Texas" troupes now blanketing the entire state as part of the current bond campaign.

Big Parade

The bond rally will be preceded by a parade at 2:30 p. m. through the business district with Fred Prince, police and fire commissioner, as parade marshal. Aviation cadets and the drum and bugle corps from Corsicana will participate in the event. A police escort and a number of prominent citizens including Mayor John C. Calhoun and Joe E. Butler, Navarro county war bond chairman, will meet the stars at the city limits and accompany them to the scene of the rally. Collin street, between Main and Beaton.

One of the largest crowds ever to jam the streets of Corsicana is expected for the event and every man woman and child in the city and county is cordially invited to participate in the rally.

Autry to Sing

Autry, who appears through the cooperation of General Richard Donovan of the 8th. Service Command and the local War Finance Committee, will sing some of the songs that he made famous, and will appear on the same program with Jean Brooks, lovely young RKO starlet, who is currently playing the feminine lead in the "Falcon" pictures; Lassea White, famed former Texas minstrel, who for the past six years has been doing character roles for RKO, chiefly in Western pictures; Jari Wayne and Jimmie Allard, known during his blackface days as "Slate", and who now is manager of Interstate's theatres in Vernon. Allard will act as master of ceremonies at the rally.

In addition to the entertainers, the rally will introduce to Corsicana, two wounded heroes of the fighting 86th. Division, made up primarily of Texas soldiers; these wounded men are now convalescing at McCloskey General Hospital at Temple, after their wounds received on the Italian front, and will reverse some of the reasons why bond buying at the present time is so important.

Special Stage

The performance will be presented from a specially constructed stage. R. G. Dillard, chamber of commerce manager, will introduce the master of ceremonies. The Rev. Robert Bristol will pronounce the invocation and Mrs. R. N. Elliott is to lead the singing of the National Anthem with Edward F. Hearn at the piano. Should rain interfere the program will be presented at weather conditions.

The radio, stage and screen stars will arrive in Corsicana from Tyler where they gave a bond show Friday night and will go from Corsicana to Waco for a rally Saturday night.

LIGHT AND MEDIUM BOMBERS AIDED IN CHERBOURG BATTLE

U. S. FORTRESSES AND LIBERATORS ALSO BLASTED ROCKET BASES

By GLADWIN HILL
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22.—(P)—A fleet of light and medium bombers carried out a crushing offensive in support of American troops hammering into Cherbourg today, while big forces of American heavy bombers plowing through the barbed wire and the Pas-De-Calais rocket-bomb installations.

Marauders, Havocs and Thunderbolts swept down to within 100 feet of German cannon to drive home the closest support yet given to the American troops.

Fortresses and Liberators gave the rocket launching grounds their fourth pounding in less than 24 hours.

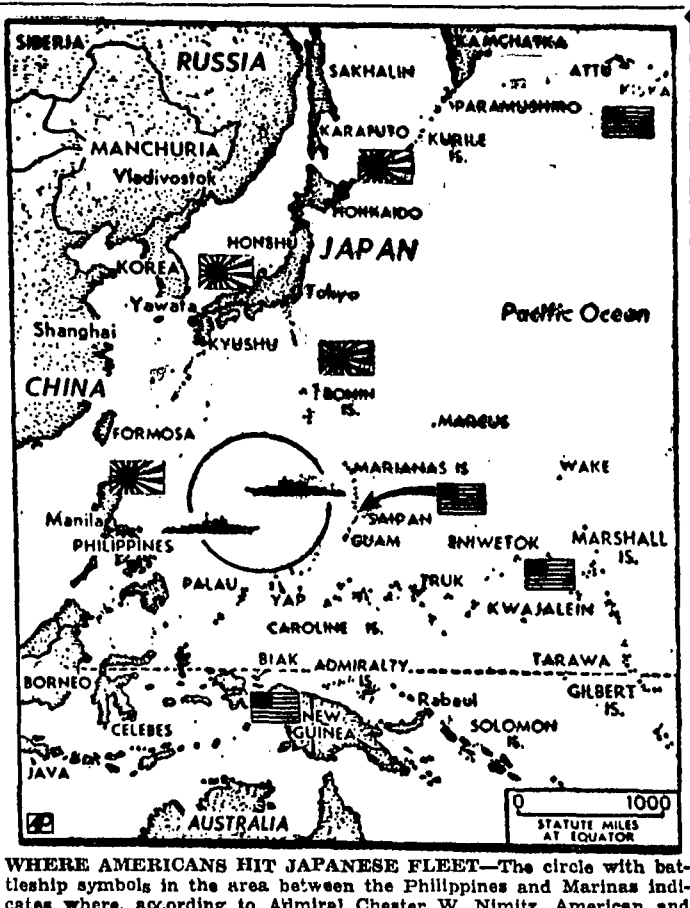

The daylight blow followed a night of farflung aerial attacks extending from France to Germany's industrial Ruhr and Berlin—dwarfing the Germans' cross-channel barrage of rocket bombs, which they asserted today are now coming over with incendiary loads.

(The Germans also said, without allied confirmation, that the American planes which bombed Berlin yesterday and flew on to Russia used an airbase at Paltava in the Ukraine, 1,500 miles from London. The allies announced that some fighter planes entering the Berlin area were shot down.

Last night Berlin was attacked by speedy Mosquitos while British Lancasters hit Ruhr and Rhineland objectives.

FOUR CONVICTS IN FATAL ESCAPE ARE ALL TAKEN THURSDAY

ORANGE, June 22.—(P)—The last two of four convicts who shot their way to freedom from Wynne state prison farm near Huntsville Tuesday, killing a guard, were captured near Orange today.

Leonard Stockton was taken four miles north of here on the highway to Jasper and James McLemore was caught after he had been driven into a pine tree while trying to escape under fire.

Eugene Padgett, 28, serving 99 years for murder from Bell county, and W. M. Johnson, 30, serving eight years for burglary from Garlin, Harris and Liberty counties, were re-arrested about eight miles south of Madisonville yesterday.

The four men escaped from the farm after fatally wounding George T. Preston, 45, a prison guard and raiding an arsenal.

McLemore stated that he lost

LEGISLATION FOR BLOCKING SUPREME COURT IS PLANNED

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(P)—Legislation intended to cancel out the Supreme Court's opinion that the insurance business is subject to anti-trust laws held the attention of the House today as Congress raced to a summer recess.

Three hours of debate were set aside to dispose of the measure, with the prospect that half a dozen departmental supply bills awaiting final action would be sandwiched in.

The legislation is the outgrowth of a case involving federal action against 198 insurance companies accused of conspiracy to fix and maintain arbitrary and non-competitive rates of fire insurance in Southern states. A federal district court sustained a demurrer to the indictment on the ground insurance was interstate commerce.

Backers of the legislation, a six-line proposal, contend it is necessary to the anti-trust laws.

Subsequently, in a split opinion reversing its stand of 75 years, the Supreme Court held that insurance is interstate commerce.

AMERICAN PACIFIC FLEET PLANES HIT JAPAN'S GRAND FLEET

SURPRISE ATTACK MONDAY COST ENEMY SEVERAL WAR VESSELS

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor.
American Pacific fleet planes staggered Japan's elusive fleet Monday in a surprise attack which cost the enemy one aircraft carrier and three other ships sunk and at least nine damaged, including a battleship.

The elusive enemy fleet, caught completely off base, offered no effective counteraction and fled from contact with the mighty U. S. Fifth fleet hovering off the Marianas Islands.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported also that in the Sunday air battle the enemy lost 353 planes instead of the previously-reported 300. This was an even greater air victory than that achieved by the American fleet in Midway two years ago.

The Midway battle still ranged first in this war's Pacific naval actions, however, followed in scope by the Guadalcanal battle in November, 1942.

Lost 40 Planes.

American planes losses in the Monday battle were 49.

The carrier sunk was listed by Nimitz as the Hayataka class. The battleship was of the Kongo class, 29,000 tons.

The enemy fleet included four or more battleships, five of six carriers, five fleet tankers and uncounted cruisers and destroyers.

That the enemy fleet was still avoiding battle as late as yesterday (U. S. time) was reported by AF Commanding James, aboard the U. S. Flagship off Salpian Island.

James' dispatch, dated June 22 Salpian time (June 21 U. S. time) also disclosed that Asito airstrip

FOURTEEN ENEMY SHIPS DAMAGED OR SUNK IN PACIFIC AREA

ACTION ENDED AT NIGHT FALL WITH ENEMY SHIPS IN FLIGHT

By CHARLES MCMURTRY
UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, June 22.—(P)—The United States Fifth fleet sank four and possibly five Japanese ships and damaged nine or ten in a surprise attack between the Philippines and Marianas Monday.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported in a communique that our carrier planes sank one Japanese carrier, three tankers and possibly a destroyer.

Our carrier force under the immediate tactical command of Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher suffered no ship losses and only 49 planes many of which were forced to land in the water at nightfall. Many pilots may have been rescued.

The action ended at nightfall with the Japanese fleeing and there was no indication that the battle had been resumed.

Admiral Nimitz also announced that 353 enemy planes were shot down in the Japanese futile attempt Sunday on Admiral Mitscher's force. This added 52 enemy craft to the previous estimate of 300 destroyed.

U. S. Carriers and one battleship suffered "superficial" damage and 21 aircraft were lost in combat. A fleet spokesman said superficial damage means the ship's capacity for battle was not impaired, indicating that they probably participated in Monday's action.

The attack of the Fifth fleet under command of Adm. Raymond A. Spruance was such a complete surprise that the Japanese apparently made no counterattack against any of our surface units.

Admiral Nimitz said the Japanese force consisted of four or more battleships, five or six carriers, five fleet tankers, and an unspecified number of cruisers and destroyers.

He listed these casualties inflicted on the enemy:

"One carrier, believed to be the Zuikaku (37,000 tons) received three direct bomb hits.

"One Hayataka class carrier was sunk.

"One Hayataka class carrier was severely damaged and left burning furiously.

"One carrier (probably around 10,000 tons) Zuikaku class received at least one bomb hit.

"One Kongo class battleship (30,000 tons) was damaged.

RUSSIANS HURLING MEN AND MATERIAL INTO FINNISH DRIVE

TWO NEW CAMPAIGNS OPENED TO PUT FINLAND OUT OF WAR QUICKLY

LONDON, June 22.—(P)—The Red army hurled masses of men and equipment into two new drives on a broad front north of Lake Ladoga today in an effort to make a quick end of the war with Finland, already reported in the throes of a government upheaval which may be the prelude to a bid for peace.

Launching of the drives was announced last night in a Moscow communique, which also disclosed that Soviet forces advancing from captured Viipuri on the Karelian isthmus south of Lake Ladoga were within 20 miles of the border town of Viipuri.

The political situation in Helsinki as the Russians intensified pressure on the staggering Finnish army remained obscure, but there were strong indications that the Finnish government was facing a crisis.

A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said a Finnish peace cabinet had already been selected. An Associated Press Stockholm dispatch said the Swedish paper Svenska Dagbladet declared the Finnish government crisis had been "defacto solved," a phrase interpreted to mean that the cabinet

NEW YORK, June 22.—(P)—An appeal to workers in war plants not to interrupt the production of fighting implements by striking—coupled with an offer accompanied by $412 in cash to help pay the wage increase that has been demanded—was contained in a communication received by the Associated Press marked as coming from "the crew of the U. S. S. Coos Bay," a seaplane tender, and stamped "Passed by Naval Censor." The communication, dated June 10 in care of the post office at San Francisco, referred specifically to "the present strikers of the Wright Aircraft Corporation" and added "please inform them to end their strike and accept our offer to help their wage increase which they feel is more important than our lives." Referring to the strike which lasted from June 5 to June 9 at the Lockland, Ohio, plant of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, without work authorization, and after being shown by the Associated Press a copy of the Coos Bay letter, R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers, C.I.O., said in Washington: "These men in the armed service have been propagandized, our international office has done everything it possibly can and will continue to do more to stop all such strikes as the Wright strike. x x x No wage issue was involved. It was an anti-negro issue." Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, to whom the A. F. forwarded the $412 in cash, said he had done nothing about the Coos Bay letter, said he had "no comment," after noting a copy of the letter. Supreme Court Upholds Regular Party Electors

AUSTIN, June 22.—(P)—The state supreme court today upheld the Democratic party's traditional system of selecting presidential electors in party convention—electors which this year are not bound to support the party's nominee unless the national party meets certain demands.

The court denied application by pro-Roosevelt forces for a mandamus which would have compelled the party's executive committee to certify names of pro-Roosevelt electors—chosen at a rump convention—for printing on the July 22 primary ballot.

The executive committee had refused to certify pro-Roosevelt electors declaring that the state convention, from which the pro-Roosevelt faction bolted, spoke the majority will of Texas Democrats.

In its opinion the court said there was no law on how the party should select nominees for presidential electors. The party is free to follow any method which it may choose in keeping the party usages and customs, so long as it does not pursue a method expressly prohibited by law.

"We therefore hold that the petitioners have no right to compel the Democratic party to select its

Large Sum Money Be Distributed TP&L Customers

Residential and commercial customers throughout the territory served by the Texas Power and Light Company are to receive checks totaling about $300,000 made today by R. H. Harvey, manager of the company at Corsicana.

"These checks," Mr. Harvey said, "are going out to our customers in accordance with an agreement between our company and the Southwestern Power Administration in connection with our company's contract to purchase and distribute a substantial portion of the power generated by the Denison Dam.

"Each individual check," Mr. Harvey explained "will represent that particular customer's share in semi-annual distribution of the $300,000 yearly which our company agreed to make to its residential and commercial customers during the life of the contract with the Southwestern Power Administration. Customers who so desire," Mr. Harvey added "may as a matter of convenience, cash these checks at par at the company's offices.

"In addition to the $300,000 to its residential and commercial customers," Mr. Harvey further explained, "our company is paying another sum of approximately $100,000 in the form of a 10 per cent discount on its bills to various governmental agencies and military establishments served by the company.

Texas Power and Light Company will begin receiving power under the contract when the Denison Dam power plant is ready for regular commercial operation. Subject to certain limitations, the contract will remain in effect until six months after the cessation of hostilities in the present war or until July 1, 1949, whichever date is earlier.

STORY NEW TEXAS RANGERS AND THEIR INVASION OF FRANCE

ABOARD THE USS TEXAS (Delayed)—This is the story of the Texas Rangers of brave men who accomplished their mission despite great handicaps.

They are really Rudger's Rangers—under command of Lt. Col. James E. Rudder of Brady, Texas, but the men and officers of this battlewagon have adopted them.

It is from the wise-cracking warriors with the lesser wounds, that we heard the grim story of their first 24 hours in France.

At two hours before "H" hour, some 10 or 12 miles out in the channel, their big transport dropped them and their small landing craft into the dark, rough sea.

Their objective was a bold point on the coast at Point Du Hoc. Below the 100-foot, reddish-brown cliffs was a 30-yard beach. Ten feet from the cliffs was a German observation post. The Rangers were to swarm over that

ALLIED AND ITALIAN TROOPS CONVERGING ON PORT OF ANCONA

By LYNN HEINZELING
ROME, June 22.—(P)—Allied and Italian troops are within 32 miles of Ancona, prize Italian port on the Adriatic coast, while Eight army troops are approaching Camerino, approximately 35 miles east and a little north of Perugia, said day headquarters announced today.

American forces to the west have pushed on 15 airline miles northwest of Grosseto. In all land operations, although weather has improved, misty conditions are preventing cross-country movements on a large scale, a communique said.

The advance toward Ancona, ranking next to Venice in port facilities in that coastal sector, was made by troops which have reached Fermo, only 85 airline miles below Rimini, the eastern anchor of the so-called Pisa-Florence-Rimini line where the fleeing Germans may offer stiff resistance against the allied drive.

Army troops have also approached Nocera Umbra, 14

IT'S GRAND NEWS FROM PACIFIC BUT AGAIN JAPANESE APPEAR TO HAVE EVADED FINAL PAYMENT

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Substituting news from the Pacific. It's grand news from the Pacific to today, where we have exacted another payment for Pearl Harbor, but again the Japanese appear to have evaded all efforts to force them into a real contact battle.

Our planes have inflicted losses which amount to a severe amputation, but both the communique and a report from Rembert James, AP correspondent with the Fifth Fleet, indicate that yesterday's hopes for a real contact battle have gone glimmering.

The navy apparently felt until yesterday that there was chance of further action, and enthusiasm was high. This was sufficient indication of our overwhelming strength, and we might have guessed then that the enemy would get away with all he could.

Admiral reports that the Japanese force consisted of a large portion of the grand fleet proved unfounded, although its strength, prior to the arrival of our planes, ary to protect the right of states to regulate insurance and to block control of that business by a federal bureaucracy. Opponents insist that enactment will result in transfer of insurance business to big companies to the detriment of the smaller ones.

Half a dozen appropriation bills competed with the insurance measure for House attention, but on most of them there remained only the formality of agreeing to compromise worked out by Senate-House committees. A war contract termination bill already passed by both branches was in the same status.

Yesterday's Action

Disposed of in a burst of speed yesterday were several appropriation bills, legislation to extend wartime price, wage, and rent controls for an additional year, until June 30, 1945; and a measure that would have given members of the women's airforce auxiliary service pilots (WASPS) military status in the army air forces.

The supply bills and the price control proposals went to the White House; the WASP bill was killed by a House vote after spirited debate.

The speed with which the legislative docket, crowded at the start of the week, was clearing up increased hopes of Congressional leaders that the recess could get under way at the end of Friday's session. How long it will last has not been decided, but the general demand was for a vacation ending after the first week in August.

Little more than a bare quorum of the Senate, 86 members, was available yesterday and outbound trains last night and today carried Republican Congressmen to Chicago for the National convention of their party opening Monday.

SIMPLE LIVING MAY PREVAIL IN WORLD AFTER WORLD WAR*

Trend Today is Toward Life's Essentials, With Luxuries and Self-Indulgence in the Discard—A Modern Instance of the Hurt of Intemperance.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

One of the recent popular books is "Blessed Are The Meek," the story of St. Francis of Assisi, set in the background of his times. It portrays the power and joy of the life that has no possessions and seeks none; but desires only to love and serve. After all, man's real needs are few—simple food, simple shelter, simple clothing, with some one to love and to serve. Tens of thousands of young service men and war workers have demonstrated that life can be lived in most meager accommodations.

Other late books have extolled the happiness of a return to primitive life. Thoreau is finding new popularity. Mansions are a drug on the real estate market. We are weary of our cluttered-up civilization, and yearn for simplicity.

"Dare to be a Daniel"

Daniel, who is the theme of today's Lesson, is history's outstanding example of the power of abasement. Thrust into the midst of the luxury of the Babylonian court, he had the sound sense to see whether such indulgence led. So the young Hebrew and his companions spurned the king's wine and dainties.

They did it with good manners, and won the consent of the palace captives, to make an experiment. They proposed that they go on a diet of vegetables and water for ten days and then be compared with those who indulged freely. "And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer, and they were fatter in flesh, than all the youths that did eat the king's dainties."

Daniel was an early instance of the commanding training which is an outstanding development of this war. He kept himself fit and hard for a great future—the greatness of his future career is a tale in itself. He kept his body under, like St. Paul. In an uncongenial environment he adhered to his earliest principles. A preacher once said, "A good spirit was in Daniel," but when printed, a typographical error rendered the quotation, "A good spine was in Daniel." Ah, for more "good spine!" They will solve the problems of intemperance and of simple living.

A Tale of Today

I know an editor who has lately lost his job. I am not surprised, for the publisher of the paper months ago confided to me his problem, which may be boiled down to one sentence: The editor is a drunkard. He is a man of real gifts, and has a national reputation. His employer went to amazing lengths to save him; he took him to a physician, to a psychiatrist, to a priest and to his family. All that generous forbearance and friendship could do was done. My friend gave him hundreds of dollars, in addition to a large salary, to help the poor drunkard out of his financial difficulties into which his habit had got him.

Be all in vain. Now the axe has fallen, and the editor is out of a job, with no prospects. Actual want stares his family in the face. He is a pitiable example of how a man can be thrust from high place down into the depths by the power of strong drink.

And the sad fact is that this near-at-hand tale is but representative of what is befalling hundreds of other brilliant young men. Would that one could hear into the brain of youth everywhere where the admonition "Where there's drink there's danger."

A Sober World

While the war has restricted the output of strong drink, the use thereof has increased, especially among soldiers. Liquor bulks larger than ever in popular literature and entertainment. Tap-rooms have contributed largely to juvenile delinquency. There has developed a vast underworld in the area of the use of intoxicants. I felt ashamed as I saw block-long queues of men and women waiting to gain entrance to Pennsylvania State liquor stores, the day before certain restrictions went into effect. All sorts of people crowded together in inclement weather—the society dame next in line to the ragged bum... old and young men and women of all sorts and conditions were lined up to secure a stock of booze. The spectacle made me wonder about the sort of society that is going to confront the post-war world.

To meet the test of the times that lie ahead we shall need the responsible use of all the finest faculties of the people. A self-indulgent, dissipated nation cannot master our vast new problems. Clear brains, sure purposes and stout hearts are required. Only man at his best can master the new, vast and difficult problems that await us. Self-indulgent, frivolous and heedless men and women cannot lead the world through the heroic world-builders are made. It would be well for all of us could we return to the simpler living of our ancestors. It has been demonstrated that our vaunted "balthus" civilization does not make cleaner, stronger spirits.

on the invaded island which lies only 1,500 miles from Tokyo and the Philippines has been made ready for operation. Navy Seabees have lengthened Asitolo's 2,800 foot main runway.

Enemy Still Hangs Back

James said that after nearly a week of complex naval fencing in the vast stretches of ocean between the Marianas chain of islands and the Philippines the enemy fleet was still hanging back. This report tended to confirm impressions in Washington that Japan's navy, unwittingly was caught off base and was as reluctant as ever to engage the U. S. Fifth fleet.

Bitter ground fighting continued on Saipan as American marines and infantry advanced northward along Magistrate Bay and lightened the noose around Japanese forces trapped on the island's southeastern tip. A curious feature of the land battling was the action of many Japanese civilians pouring through American lines seeking refuge from the battle. The thickly-populated west coast was in the midst of the fight. James reported Japanese resistance weakening.

Take Third of Island

The Americans have taken a third of the island, mountains of food and supplies, and two airfields.

Gen. MacArthur's airmen hit Truk, south of Saipan, with 108 tons of bombs, a record load on this once-vaunted fortress. His ground forces continued to clean up enemy troops who have lost Black Island off Dutch New Guinea to the Americans.

In China, the one Pacific war front where the Japanese hold the advantage, enemy forces maintained their advance down the Hankow-Canton railroad.

The obscure fighting in Burma and India, at least report, moved ahead slowly in the allies' favor, with Japanese slowly losing their grip on Mogau and Myitkyina and retreating from northeastern India.

NAVARRO COUNTY COUNCIL OF HOME CLUBS IN SESSION

A meeting of the Navarro county home demonstration council was held Saturday at Kinsloe House with Mrs. C. W. Wasson presiding. It was reported by Mrs. F. P. McCulston, expansion chairman, that 51 new members had been added to the county club rolls and that 19 people had visited various club meetings during the past year.

A canning demonstration was given in an unorganized community recently by the Angus club. Mrs. John Ware reported. This is the first such project completed. Mrs. J. A. Worthy, chairman of education, urged that all club members assist non-club members during the canning season.

Cookers and sealers furnished by the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce were drawn by the following clubs: Mildred, cooker and sealer; Powell, sealer; Bazette, sealer. One sealer is to be left at the county agent's office for the benefit of any club member desiring to use it.

Miss Eva Williams, 4-H club sponsor, announced that there would be no club encampment this summer due to inadequate transportation, but that local entertainment would be provided.

It was decided to have the annual club rally on July 28, at the city park. A picnic lunch will be served at noon, and entertainment is planned for the entire day. First, second and third prizes will be awarded winners of the garment contest. The garments may be worn or displayed.

District Agent Introduced.

Miss Lydia Cooper, recently assigned agent of District 4, was introduced by Mrs. Wasson and gave a brief summary of her contribution to club work. She complimented the council for the manner in which business was conducted. Miss Vera Sneed, county agent, welcomed Miss Cooper to Corsicana and Navarro counties. In making further plans for the year, Miss Sneed stated that cheese making would be taken up soon.

All clubs who have not reported their Fair exhibits to Mrs. A. S. Fulton, chairman, are asked to do so immediately.

Mrs. Vernon led the opening song, and Mrs. Grover Crawford, a speaker, discussed "The Christian Home." Mrs. Crawford pointed out that there could be no higher profession than that of the homemaker.

No Knowledge of Ultimatum.
Supreme headquarters said it lacked any knowledge of a reported American ultimatum by field radio to the Cherbourg garrison demanding surrender by 7 a. m. Greenwich Meridian time, today (2 p. m. Central War time.) The London Daily Sketch said last night it had recorded such a broadcast.

It was assumed that if the ultimatum was made it was rejected and that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley had ordered a final attack. Supreme headquarters said it was possible the field commander might have made the demand on his own authority.

On the American left flank, the U. S. infantrymen plunged to within three miles of the sea in the vicinity of St. Croix-Hague, a village seven miles west of Cherbourg astride the main highway to Cap De La Hague, where some German forces are reported seeking at least temporary refuge.

Near Northern Coast.
On the right a fast-moving column speared to a point almost as close to the northern coast by reaching the Saire river near the village of La Theil, less than five miles east and slightly south of Cherbourg.

In the center substantial gains were made along the main road from Valognes. Communiqué No. 38 reported "good progress" with advances of two to three miles along the entire front.

Allied experts flew into the Cherbourg peninsula to investigate the flying bomb bases captured intact by the American troops, but the supreme command said there was no indication the Germans had been using these against England. It appeared, a spokesman said, that the American drive over the peninsula left the enemy insufficient time to get the launching sites ready for operation.

Except for the swift encircling drive on Cherbourg, there was little activity on the beachhead. The communiqué reported only patrol activity elsewhere, although enemy artillery and mortar fire in the British-Canadian sector at Tilly was said to be unusually heavy.

Cherbourg Holds Spotlight.
The assault on Cherbourg captured the spotlight, but it was apparent Gen. Bradley was striving with vigor to round up the German garrisons on the two prongs of the peninsula.

With reports from the front lagging far behind developments, the supreme command conceded that advance American patrols already may have reached the sea beyond St. Croix-Hague on the west and La Theil on the east—advances that would cut off German forces and forts on Cap De La Hague on the west and on point Barfleur on the east.

In the close-up fight for Cherbourg the French-built concrete forts, Océville and Du Roule, about 1,500 yards from the prize harbor—were proving formidable obstacles to the attacking American troops. The fighting apparently raged all around the town, in the suburbs and possibly inside the town itself.

(The German radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, began preparing the Nazi home front for the loss of the port, speaking of how long it could hold out against overwhelming attacks.)

Claims Naval Support.
The Vichy radio this morning said warships offshore were supporting the Americans, but supreme headquarters said it had no knowledge of such a bombardment.

The Germans still were rushing to destroy everything in the port and city which could be of use to the Allies.

Reports here said that Cherbourg's airfield appeared to be within the Allied grasp if not already taken. This would be the first sizeable field captured in the beachhead drive and, when repaired, would permit the use of medium bombers.

Bad weather yesterday hampered air operations and also delayed unloading of war materials. A strong wind from the northeast whipped up a heavy surf on the beaches.

Last Ditch Defense.
A dispatch last night from Associated Press War Correspondent Don Whitehead quoted French civilians straggling through the lines as saying the Germans in Cherbourg had prepared for a street by street defense by knocking holes in the corner of buildings and setting up machine guns and anti-tank guns to cover the approaches.

Whitehead's dispatch, sent at 9:31 p. m. last night, said the doughboys had "encountered the core of the enemy's last line of defenses—blockhouses and concrete pillboxes—and for the past 12 hours had been probing enemy positions and getting ready for the final thrust."

The U. S. infantrymen, he said, were meeting stiffening opposition from strong points fixed "so that the lines of fire criss-crossed with each point supporting its neighbors."

But Whitehead expressed the view that there would be little chance for the enemy to make a "Stalingrad" of the city because the Americans have vastly superior hitting power on land, sea and in the air.

Ready for Final Assault.
NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—Allied forces "are ready for the final attack on Cherbourg," CBS Correspondent Harry Lee said today in a broadcast from Normandy. "The Germans show no signs of surrender, and we are prepared to blast our way through the German defenses like a thunderbolt."

New Warning to Fishermen.
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS. Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22.—(AP)—While fighting raged at Cherbourg Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made clear to the German command that they could not pay attention alone to the defense of that port.

In a radio warning the Allied commander-in-chief told the commander of Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France to stay in port until 9 p. m., June 29. This was the second seven-day extension of the original supreme command warning to fishermen.

AERIAL

In the morning another great fleet roared out over the channel in the same direction this afternoon, stirring up a great barrage of anti-aircraft and rocket fire from the Germans' coastal defenses.

The attacks capped 24 hours of tremendous activity including the U. S. air force's shuttle raid from Britain to Russia.

A Moscow communiqué from the headquarters of the Eastern Command of the U. S. strategic air force said three bombers and two escorting fighters were lost on the flight to Russian air bases. Synthetic oil refineries and installations at Ruhland, southeast of Berlin, were bombed by a large force.

Mustangs Provide Cover.
Mustangs provided constant cover for the bombers during the flight and shot down five enemy planes, the communiqué said. The bombers shot down six Yak fighters of the Red air force supported the Mustangs in the last half of the trip, the announcement added.

Keeping the assault going on the German coast, the U. S. bomber force said three bombers and two escorting fighters were lost on the flight to Russian air bases. Synthetic oil refineries and installations at Ruhland, southeast of Berlin, were bombed by a large force.

Forty-six bombers were missing from the wide-spread British operations, which included mine laying in enemy waters.

The German radio warned today that allied planes were over Styria—perhaps indicating that American bombers from Italy were out.

Greatest Raid on Berlin.
The daylight raid against Berlin by a fleet of more than 1,000 U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 1,200 escorting fighters was the greatest of the war against the Reich capital. It was disclosed that some of the fighters as well as some of the heavy bombers made the shuttle flight between Britain and the Soviet Union.

While German flying bombs continued dropping through English skies overnight, the mounting weight of bombs dropped on the Pas de Calais area indicated the allies were making progress in their campaign against the launching mechanisms for these projectiles.

From an allied advance command post came word that American troops swarming up the Cherbourg peninsula—where it was stated more than a quarter of the rickety bomb bases were situated—had seized a number of sites. Supreme headquarters said, however, that there was no evidence that rocket bombs had been launched from the Cherbourg peninsula.

Cost 58 Planes.
The raid yesterday was the Americans' twelfth on Berlin. It cost 43 U. S. bombers and 15 fighters. Forty-nine German fighters were knocked down, 20 by the fighters and 29 by the bombers' guns.

East of the battle area bombing was concentrated on the disrupted and choked railway and highway network over which the Germans are striving to push reinforcements. Over 200 of several hundred square miles of British and American fighter-bombers battered bridges, railroad yards, tracks, trains, barges and oil tanks at 20 different places. Air bases at St. Quentin and Dreux also were hit.

The fighters which accompanied the heavy bombers making the shuttle raid on Berlin may or may not have set a distance record depending on how far beyond the Russian border the bases in the Soviet Union lie.

The border itself is some 300 miles from Britain. American fighters have gone several hundred miles farther than on round trips escorting bombers to Berlin and targets farther east in Germany.

Nazis Attack Airfield.
LONDON, June 22.—(AP)—The German radio said today that German bomber formations had made a large-scale attack against the Russian airfield at Poltava in the Ukraine—where the Germans earlier had said American shuttle bombers were resting after their attack on Berlin from Britain yesterday.

"For about an hour several hundred heavy caliber high explosives and thousands of incendiary bombs were dropped on installations of this large Soviet airfield," said a DNB broadcast. "Conflagrations were observed in every part of the field."

Neither the report that U. S. air forces were based at Poltava nor the account of the attack confirmed in Allied quarters. Poltava is about 550 miles northwest of Bucharest and 1,500 miles on a direct line from London.

United States" of having "planned a campaign" to create "antagonism between labor and the armed forces." He suggested that the Associated Press use the money "to print certificates x x x to be distributed among their members for the wonderful jobs they are doing in saving hatred, intolerance, and misunderstanding in the minds of Americans."

U. S. Coos Bay (Ap 25)
Co. Fleet Post Office
San Francisco, Calif.
10 June, 1944.

The Associated Press,
Editorial Department,
San Francisco, California.

We the crew of the U. S. S. Coos Bay, which consists mainly of survivors of other naval ships or veterans of major naval engagements, and all who have seen action not only once but many times and who, while on this cruise, have not had a liberty for one full year, feel that we can do more than fight and even give our lives if necessary for our country. We are willing to help pay the wage increase from out of our own pockets, that many hungry strikers are demanding if they will just continue to produce the implements necessary so that we can end this war. We have seen war—and we hate it.

We have chosen you as our agent or go-between to represent us in our campaign to "buy off" the present strikers of the Wright Aircraft Corporation with the money we have collected from our small crew. A total of 41,200 pennies.

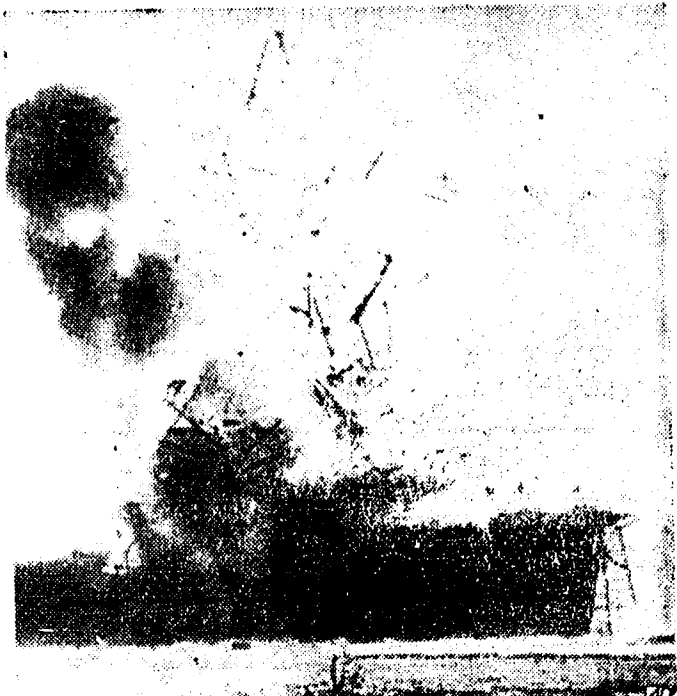

Please inform them to end their strike and accept our offer to help pay their wage increase which they feel is more important than our lives.

Ask them not to strike in the future, but, instead, to let the men in the war zone know of their dissatisfaction and they will gladly chip in each month to save them from starvation so that they may continue to produce arms for us to defeat their enemy as well as ours, and so that we may come home soon to see the ones we love, our sons and daughters whom we have never seen and our wives and mothers who haunt us with memories day and night; also to see our country for which we are willing to die—yes—and to see you strikers; do you want to see us? Out here we are close to our "foreign" enemies and can properly deal with them; our enemies at home we cannot reach. Therefore, in desperation, we can think of nothing but to offer our money to "buy" them back to work; this money having been earned honestly and in the belief that our efforts were the salvation and protection of those who are striking against us.

THE CREW OF THE U. S. S. COOS BAY.

P. S.: If the Wright strike is over, just choose another. There are always plenty at hand.

The money accompanying this letter, all in U. S. paper currency, has been forwarded to the Secretary of the Navy, James V. Forrestal. It comprised three $100 bills, five of $20 denomination, one $10 bill and one $2 bill. At Washington, The Associated GERMANS SCORCH RUSSIAN EARTH—This picture, according to an accompanying commentary for the scene in a German newsreel, shows a warehouse, storing German equipment being dynamited prior to Nazi withdrawal from a Russian front. Press sought comment from Forrestal and R. J. Thomas, National president of the United Automobile Workers, members of which union were involved in an unauthorized strike at the plant of the Wright Aircraft Corporation at Lockland, Ohio. Comment also was sought from local officers of the union.

Thomas said at Detroit May 27 that "public opinion has become inflamed against our union" (because of unauthorized strikes in war plants) and added:

"The UAW-CIO today faces one of the greatest crises in its history. On the outcome of this crisis will depend the possibilities of our survival in the post-war period. The test is this: Are the membership of our union and its leaders willing to abide by the democratic decisions and mandates of our constitution and conventions?"

A walkout of 15,000 started at the Wright plant June 5 after seven negroes were transferred to a department which had been operated by white workers. The negroes remained on their jobs throughout the strike, which was ended June 9. The company said approximately 240 workers were discharged when they refused to man machines.

Navy Secretary Forrestal, when shown the contents of the letter today, said "no comment."

Statement by Thomas at Washington: "These men in the armed services have been propagandized. Our international office has done everything it possibly can and will continue to do more to stop all such strikes as the Wright strike. The people of Cincinnati at least know there was no wage issue involved. It was an anti-negro issue. And they also know our international union demanded that these people go back to work. Our members returned to work on our demands, but about 600 non-union people did not return to work and were disciplined by the management. Quite obviously we have no control over people who do not belong to our union. All the people in the armed services can rest assured that all the officers of the UAW will do everything they possibly can to help those in the armed services to bring the war to a successful conclusion."

"Our organization did put up a fight for additional pay for the soldiers. We fought equally hard to get the G. I. bill through congress, and we are also putting up a fight for jobs when our servicemen return from whatever front they are on."

we corner him in a last ditch fight at home, we seem to have small chance of getting him into a showdown, even when we invade the Philippines.

nominee for such positions by primary election," wrote Chief Justice Alexander.

(The regularly constituted convention has already certified its elector nominees to the secretary of state for printing on the general election ballot.)

Electors Not Bound
These electors are not bound to support the party nominees unless it restores the two-thirds rule for nominating candidates for President and Vice President and unless it adopts a platform plank condemning the U. S. Supreme Court decision permitting negroes to vote in Texas primaries.

The court put an end to the litigation by ruling that the petitioners will be denied the right to file a motion for rehearing "on account of the emergency due to the near approach of the time for the printing of ballots for the July primary."

The ballot for the July primary will be made up by the various county executive committees next Monday.

No Primary Election
The question before the court was whether nominees for Presidential elector should be selected by party convention—a method used for nearly 100 years in Texas—or by a direct vote of the people in a primary.

"A careful search of our statutes discloses that there is no express provision which points out specifically how the nominees of a political party for the position of Presidential electors shall be selected," the opinion said.

It added that in view of the construction placed on election laws for many years by the party officers charged with executive election laws and because of the construction placed on the laws by the legislature the court necessarily was led to the conclusion "that it was not intended by the legislature that the party nominees for Presidential electors should be selected by primary election."

No Comment by Allied
HOUSTON, Tex., June 22—(AP)—Former Gov. James V. Allred, Democratic forces and one of the attorneys who argued the elector case before the Texas Supreme Court, refused to comment today on the decision upholding the state Democratic party's system of selecting Presidential electors.

"I have just heard about the opinion and until I do I have no comment to make," he said. "I haven't read the opinion and until I do I have no comment to make."

Chairman George A. Butler of the state Democratic executive committee said: "I am happy to see that the court, by unanimous decision, has upheld the action of the executive committee."

Some of the Rangers met in death and hurried to the beach below.

When the Rangers had won their foothold, Lt. James R. McCullers, 30, Columbia, Ga., said of the enemy:

"They aren't such perfect soldiers. If they were, they would have driven us out that night. We were badly outnumbered; we were in a constructed position and we had no mortars."

"But nobody had any intention of quitting and that was just too much for the Germans."

Today, I finally got off with a party of the battlefield officers to study the effects of naval gunfire along those once-hostile beaches, and I spent hours on bloody Point Du Hoc.

Beastly
The battlefield was desolate of the living, save for us and for four hard young army privates waiting for the burial party to

Here, they would point out, here by this shattered farmhouse is a Ranger who got it while charging in. He's still gripping his bayonet. And here, near the crater, is another—you can see that a grenade stopped him. The look of surprise and pain is frozen on his young face, which is not even scratched.

Ten yards away you can see that some Ranger avenged him. And here is another Ranger, cut down by machine gun slugs, still clutching his rifle. Think, but most of the dead Rangers fall forward and are face down or have their faces to the side. Most of the Germans fell backward.

But that's the way it is, of course, with those who are charging forward. And that other way is how it is with those who aren't going anywhere but just waiting there and getting it there.

miles west of Camerino. Limited gains were made north of the newly-taken ancient fortress city of Perugia, and in the Lake Trasimene area west of Perugia, despite strong resistance.

A field dispatch from Correspondent Sid Feder said casualties inflicted upon the Germans in the past 41 days of allied offensive in Italy were estimated unofficially as between 80,000 and 100,000 killed wounded and captured. More than 27,000 nazis have been taken prisoner.

Air Force More Active.
The Mediterranean air force stepped up its activity, making 1,100 individual plane flights in attacking shipping in Livorno harbor, battle area targets and a railway at Ventimiglia on the Italian Riviera. There were no losses.

The communiqué disclosed that in a "spirited naval engagement" in connection with the ousting of the Germans from Elba, light coastal forces torpedoed three loaded enemy lighters attempting to evacuate troops, and possibly sank a fourth. In another engagement a single enemy lighter was sunk. (The Berlin radio said German went and up those towering cliffs within half an hour, then fan out and finish up.

What "Finishing Up" Meant
"Finishing up" meant the taking of a series of strong points extending 1,200 yards inland, centered on six-inch guns and including pillboxes, machine gun nests, mortars, snipers in trees and farmhouses, and a well-connected system of trenches and tunnels.

They would not have to finish the job alone. They would have reinforcements coming in three blocks by their own companies, another whole Ranger battalion, a full regiment of infantry.

But the surly channel elements didn't let it work out that way. The Texas opened up with its deafening 14-inch guns dead on schedule. But the landing craft were swept off their course and landed the Rangers 50 minutes late.

The Texas and other ships lifted their barrage as scheduled for their landing. The Germans crept back to the cliff's edge. What they saw brought them back by the hundreds, for the invaders had been swept in by adverse wind and current toward the wrong beach, and had then turned up the coast toward their rightful destination.

Hit Beach Running.
The craft came on in through a crossfire of machine guns, rifles and mortars. Six went under. Others were hit. Men in other craft were hit.

Some fell mortally wounded on the beach. Others found their grapnels over the cliff tops and began racing up on the rope ladders.

Germans cut some of the ropes. The Rangers tumbled down. Nazis at the cliff's edge pushed over hand grenades. A Ranger platoon picked off some of the grenade tossers and some of the snipers.

last was reformed, and could ask Moscow for armistice conditions.

The new Russian offensives were launched on the third anniversary of the German invasion of the Soviet Union, and apparently were aimed at clearing the Murmansk-Leningrad railway of Finnish forces.

One of the thrusts was launched along the Svir river, between Lakes Ladoga and Onega (Onezhskoe), approximately 150 to 200 miles northeast of Vilpuri. The other was started about 100 miles further north, above Lake Onega, and cracked Finnish lines east of Medvezhegorak, at the northwestern tip of the lake.

The broadcast Russian communiqué said that in the first day of the attack along the Svir more than 200 populated places had been occupied.

Plunging beyond the burning ruins of Vilpuri, Red army units were within 120 miles of the Finnish capital of Helsinki after taking more than 50 additional places, the Soviet communiqué added.

Meanwhile the Soviet information bureau, in a review on the third anniversary of the German attack on Russia, said more than 7,800,000 Germans have been killed or captured in the last year of fighting, compared with 3,300,000 Russians killed, missing or captured.

German losses totaled 70,000 tanks, 60,000 airplanes and more than 90,000 pieces of artillery, while Russian losses were 49,000 tanks, 30,128 airplanes and 48,000 guns, the bureau said.

Soviets Make Peace Offers.
STOCKHOLM, June 22—(AP)—The Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet said today that the Russians have offered to cease war against Finland if the Finns accept the borders that were settled upon in 1940 and give the Red Army temporary freedom of movement through Finland, certain airfields and bases on the Aland Islands on a temporary basis.

The demands in addition to the 1940 border arrangement have "been brought to the attention of the Finnish government" the newspaper said, naming them as:

First, the right to pass through any part of Finland for the purpose of concentrating Red army troops against Col. Gen. Eduard Dielt's northern Finland divisions.

Second, the right to operate from airplane bases in Osterbotten so the Red airforce can attack areas occupied by Dielt's troops and his Baltic communications.

Third, the right to hold bases in the Aland Islands to strengthen the assault of Dielt's supply lines.

Aftonbladet attributed the story to "information the New York Times Stockholm correspondent has learned."

control of the automobile he was driving and struck a tree after an officer fired at him and a bullet whistled past his head. He received minor injuries in the crash.

His capture was effected by Deputy Sheriff Acey Hickmon who was driving toward Orange on the Jasper highway when he saw the convict's car.

Stockton, 42, was serving 15 years for robbery with firearms from Palo Pinto county, and McLendon, 34, was serving 10 years for robbery with firearms from Caldwell county, was serving a 20-year term for robbery with firearms.

Stockton was nabbed by Sheriff L. G. Stanfield and a posse of about 20 other officers.

Padgett and Johnson offered no resistance when a state highway patrolman and a prison agent apprehended them on the road.

Theft of three cars and the kidnapping of one motorist, who was later released, had been attributed to the quartet.

GREATEST TEAM ON EARTH

All that arm-chair strategy gone down the drain! All that "They can't go in there, they've got to go in there." All that "No second front" stuff. All that fury over Churchill's small pickled Spanish sardine which grew overnight into a fat red herring. All that wrath about Roosevelt and de Gaulle, letting the Nazis think they could hold France by confusion, and evaporating into thin air when Eisenhower and de Gaulle sat down together and agreed.

Where did the Allied forces go in? Where did they had planned. Where will they go next? According to schedule. When will the Russian drive start? At the moment long set. Did the Powers know their business? They certainly did. Why not let the generals and high government officers get a little credit for knowing what they are doing? How about a little less amateur strategy and putting a little more steam into doing our own chores ourselves? Sure, it's fine for Americans to think things out. But when it comes down to the last stages of winning the war, it takes teamwork. The generals will do their job if we do ours.

It is an honorable part we take. Who made the castings that held the shells that knocked out that German pillbox? Who polished the valves for those airplane tanks? Who gave the blood that saved that soldier? Who worked out improvements in laboratories? It's great to do the job well. Great to tell the grandchildren later.

NAMES FOR THE WAR

Even shut-ins are contributing to the war effort. A name for the war, long desired by President Roosevelt, had been suggested by a semi-invalid, J. F. Snyder of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and approved by the President. Mr. Snyder's offering is "The Tyrant's War." No truer name could be found.

That this is a people's war is shown by the fact that the runner-up was an eminent historian, Douglas S. Freeman of Virginia, authority on Gen. Robt. E. Lee. His title is fully as appropriate: "The War of Liberation."

In Europe it is possible that they call it simply "Hitler's War." But what's the matter with "United Nations' War?" Or the present simple and unusual title of "World War II?"

COMRADESHIP

There are times and places and cases when the familiar love of a man for a maid may be no stronger than the love of a man for a buddy. Generations of men have sung with appreciation the German poet Heine's sad little song, "I Had a Comrade," which doesn't sound like much of anything in English, but in the German still brings tears to the eyes of many a strong man. And now from a foreign base of the A. E. F. in England comes this fresh tribute which seems well worth passing on. It is from Roeliff Loveland, war correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"There is no closer or finer bond in this sorry world," he writes, "than responsibility accepted and danger shared. It is fully as close as man's love for woman, and less demon-

NEIGHBORHOOD.

Each neighborhood in nature's plan is wholly cosmopolitan. For instance: this, our city block, houses a heterogeneous flock. Here in my little space of ground A various tenantry is found. Who came here first we'll never know, From sparrow to the raucous crow. For differing from the ways of men Here live the mournful dove and wren, Robin and cardinal, thrush and jay, And none so proud he moves away!

strative. It requires no pretty speeches. It demands nothing. It continues to exist even if a man needs a shave and smells like a barnyard.

"Nobody mentions it, but the bond is there—the bond binding together men who have looked the old guy with the scythe squarely in the face time after time, and who of consequence can live at peace with themselves all the days of their lives. It is a bond which even the dusty old scythe could not cut."

And now, you sentimental old guys who have gone through it, and know the God's-truth of it, go out in the back yard and bawl if you want to.

FIGHTING NATURE

The stormy English Channel, which has thwarted so many invasions in both directions, is still playing its historic part. It seems impossible to depend on it from one day to another, or even for half a day. Through that narrow passage of a little more than 20 miles the tides surge and the winds blow, and short Channel ships, used as ferries, are stood on end. There has been more seasickness in that Channel than anywhere else on earth, and it often takes a whole day to recover from it.

Perhaps before the next war comes, there will be a deep, wide subway for the crossing. It will be almost as simple then as crossing a thronged street underground in New York or Chicago. Perhaps it can be used for peaceful passage only.

QUESTION FOR BOWLES

Housewives have taken rationing restrictions pretty well, especially since Chester Bowles took over. He has obviously made an honest effort to keep them from being any more of a nuisance than necessary, and he has patiently explained many whys and wherefores. But Americans do not understand about sugar.

They know the submarines interfered with sugar, coffee and bananas at first. Then the submarine campaign was won and coffee began to flow with ever-increasing smoothness. Bananas began to appear, too, not freely, but growing

A CHINESE SHRINE

Lo-yang in China, which the Japanese have captured, was built about 1,000 B. C., and was long the capital. Recently ancient tombs have been found, revealing that at this remote date civilization had reached a notable peak. Tomb paintings show, for one thing, that tigers had been tamed and used in hunting.

If Mr. Bowles wants the American housewife to keep on supporting OPA, he will have to explain more clearly about sugar. Where is it, and why cannot she have it in comfortable amounts for baking and for canning?

HITLER'S WATERLOO

It is almost time for a funeral oration on Germany. Major George Fielding Elliot, military analyst, came near pronouncing one the other day, on the eve of the great Battle of Normandy. Seeing Hitler's air force and navy already weakened and shrunken, he awaited the defeat of her army. Presumably that would eliminate Hitler as Waterloo eliminated Napoleon. There may be unforeseen developments postponing the decision longer than many experts now think, but the end is sure and cannot be much longer delayed.

Now they're giving Yale scholarships to twins, and eventually that college may answer the question whether two can learn more than one.

LOAN COMPANIES ENJOINED MAKING HIGH RATES LOANS

AUSTIN, June 21.—(AP)—Small loan companies operating approximately 90 offices in Texas have been enjoined from making loans with interest in excess of 10 per cent per year.

The injunctions were issued in 98th district court here yesterday by Judge J. D. Moore who formally upheld validity of an act passed at the last session of the legislature permitting public prosecutions to enjoin making of loans in excess of that rate.

A jury found each of the defendants in the suit, filed by the state as a cross action to a suit brought by the operators to enjoin enforcement of the statute, had engaged in the business of habitually making loans with usurious interest.

Attorneys for the companies were expected to appeal from the district court judgment. The new law permits public prosecutions against anyone who in a six-month period makes as many as three loans with interest of more than 10 per cent annually.

Demonstration Of Building Terraces, Drainage Ditches

The latest types of machinery, methods of constructing terraces, drainage ditches, and fills were demonstrated under the direction of Ernest Cook on the W. T. McKee farm near Drane on Tuesday, June 20. The meeting was jointly sponsored by McKee and the Navarro-Hill soil conservation district. Morris Crawford, Kerens; W. C. Pearce, Corsicana, supervisors, arranged for the meeting. Representatives who participated were J. R. Hart, Navarro National Farm Loan association; E. D. Dillard, AAA; L. L. Bennett, extension service, and C. O. Ferguson, soil conservation service. An old-fashioned picnic luncheon was served at noon.

Social Security Official Be Here

A representative of the Waco, Texas social security board will be available for assistance concerning social security at the Corsicana United States Employment office on Wednesday, June 23, at 12:30 p. m. Those persons wishing information or future appointments may write or call the board's field office, located at 605 Medical Arts building, Waco, Texas.

Evasion Of Price Ceiling Carries Heavy Penalties

People do not have to buy a Ping candy bar to get a Milky Way, nor a sack of potatoes to get a sack of onions, nor baby chicks feed to get hen scratch, nor any cotton products to get Kleenex cleansing tissues, the Navarro county war price and rationing board price panel emphatically declared today. James Collins W. C. Stroubs, and Dave Kelton are on the price panel. Miss Elsie Castles is price clerk.

"There have been far too many such violations, recently in Corsicana and Navarro county," board members asserted. "And it seems that neither the retailers nor the consumers realize the penalties involved in such violations."

The following paragraph was quoted by James Collins as the basis for punishment of violators: Paragraph 12564, section 12, evasion, licensing, and enforcement. (a) Evasion—You are not to evade any of the provisions of this regulation by any scheme or device or by any practice which has the effect of getting a higher-than-ceiling price. Specifically, you can not offer to sell used goods covered by this regulation only on the condition that the customer agrees to pay for reconditioning, repairing, or rebuilding to be performed by you before or after he buys the merchandise or only on the condition "THAT THE CUSTOMER BUYS HE GOODS WHICH HE DOES NOT WISH TO BUY."

(d) Enforcement—On and after September 1, 1943, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and license suspension proceedings, suits for treble damage provided for by the emergency price control act of 1942 as amended, if you violate any provision of this regulation.

Changes Positions.

Miss Elsie Houston, deputy county clerk for a number of years has resigned to accept a position with the American Well and Prospecting Company. Mable Wilkinson, county clerk, had not announced the appointment of a new deputy Wednesday morning.

DEDICATION SERVICE FIRST ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH SUNDAY

Dedication services for the First Assembly of God Church corner Fourteenth street and Eighth avenue will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30. It has been announced by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Inlow. Rev. F. W. Davis, district superintendent, Waxahachie, will deliver the dedicatory sermon.

Sunday has been designed as homecoming day at the church and it is also the second anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Inlow. Three services will be held during the day, at 11 a. m., 2:30 and 8:15 p. m.

A revival meeting will start with the Sunday morning service and will be conducted by Rev. Robert Morrison, Springfield, Mo. Services for the revival will be held each evening at 8:15.

Mrs. Elliott Middleton and young son, Scott, have arrived from Chattanooga, Tenn., to visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Middleton.

SEA BATTLE

000 tons) was damaged.
"Three destroyers were damaged, one of which is believed to have sunk.

Three Tankers Sunk.
"Three tankers were sunk.
"Two tankers were severely damaged and left burning.
"Fifteen to 20 defending aircraft were shot down."

This destruction or damage of 14 ships was the third greatest single blow dealt the Japanese battle fleet of the war.

The greatest was the battle of Midway in June, 1942, when another carrier force under Admiral Spruance sank four enemy carriers and near a score of other ships.

The second biggest defeat was Nov. 13-15, 1942 in the battle off Guadalcanal when the enemy lost more than 30 ships sunk and damaged. The battle summary for Sunday's and Monday's action shows conclusively why Admiral Nimitz in a Monday press conference stated he hoped the enemy would close with the United States fleet for a decisive naval action.

Japs Attack.
On Sunday Japanese planes attacked Admiral Spruance's Fifth fleet. They achieved no surprise. They lost 355 planes — 335 to our fighters and eighteen to our ship's anti-aircraft. They inflicted only superficial damage on only three of our ships.

Admiral Mitscher's carrier force pursued the Japanese. On Monday afternoon it located the Japanese and attacked. There was time for just one assault before nightfall. But in just those two or three hours of daylight his bombers and torpedo planes sank or damaged 14 enemy ships.

They destroyed 15 or 20 Japanese planes which rose in weak defense of the enemy's great force.

And Mitscher's force achieved such surprise that the enemy was not able to counterattack. Admiral Mitscher had one advantage Monday. He caught the Japanese with their planes down in the ocean.

This enemy fleet which Admiral Mitscher riddled Monday now has been fairly well established as the one which attacked our force Sunday. Loss of 353 planes from its five or six carriers virtually wiped out its planes so that it had to rely largely on anti-aircraft for defense—a defense which proved pretty futile.

The fact that only 20 Japanese planes were down Monday further indicates the enemy had very few aircraft to offer resistance. Our loss of 49 aircraft does not necessarily mean anywhere near that total was lost to enemy action. Because the battle was closed so late in the day and at nearly extreme range in order to catch the Jap fleet, all of our planes were not able to return to their carriers. Many of these 49 landed in the water and the crews took to rubber life rafts.

Some of these already have been picked up and others undoubtedly were rescued after dawn Tuesday although reports are incomplete. The Hyataka carrier sunk in the Philippines sea was at least the eighth Japanese flat-top sent to the bottom. In addition to four at Midway, the Japanese lost two in the battle of the Coral Sea and one to a submarine.

Text Of Pacific Fleet Communique

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—The text of Pacific fleet communique No. 59 disclosing damage inflicted on the Japanese fleet: "1. During the attack by enemy carrier-type aircraft on our ships on June 18 (West Longitude—U. S. Date) 353 enemy aircraft were shot down, of which 335 were destroyed by our carrier aircraft and 18 by our own anti-aircraft fire. (This is a revision of the estimate contained in communique No. 58).

"2. The following information is now available concerning the attack of our carrier aircraft upon units of the Japanese fleet in the late afternoon of June 19 (West Longitude—U. S. Date). "The enemy forces attacked consisted of four or more battleships, five or six carriers, five fleet tankers and attached cruisers and destroyers.

"On the basis of information recently available, our planes inflicted the following damage: "One carrier, believed to be of the Zulkaku-class received three 1,000-pound bomb hits.

"One Hayataka-class carrier was sunk.

"One Hayataka-class carrier was severely damaged and left burning furiously.

Cruiser Hit by Bomb
"One light cruiser of the Zuiho or Taiho-class received at least one bomb hit.

"One Kongo-class battleship was damaged.

"One cruiser was damaged.

"Three destroyers were damaged, one of which is believed to have sunk.

"Three tankers were sunk.

"Two tankers were severely damaged and left burning.

"Fifteen to twenty defending aircraft were shot down.

"Our losses were 49 aircraft, including many which landed in the water at night and from which as yet undetermined number of the pilots and crew men appeared to have been rescued. Search for the others is continuing.

"The engagement was broken off by the Japanese fleet which fled during the night toward the channel between Formosa and Luzon.

"The Pacific fleet units in these two actions were commanded by Admiral P. A. Spruance. The carrier task force was under the immediate command of Vice-Admiral M. A. Mitscher."

Score of Sinkings Of Japanese Ships

THE BONDS YOU BOUGHT HAVE GONE TO WAR—
BUT The Battle is Bigger than Ever!

You Can't Fail them NOW!

BACK THE 5TH WAR LOAN TO THE LIMIT

REMEMBER the Sicilian invasion? Each mechanized division required 18,000 gallons of gasoline for every hour it was on the move.

Remember the invasion of Italy? The cost to reach the mainland from the time we began the attack in North Africa was 1,800 aircraft lost.

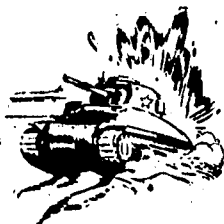

Even when we win, we lose vast stores of guns, planes, tanks and other equipment. For that is the price of victory. The Bonds you bought in the first four War Loan Drives are today's exploding bombs and shells! They can never be used again.

But today the battle is bigger than ever! And that is why you must do MORE than ever in the 5th War Loan.

Our fighting men are ready. They will go anywhere, anytime, anyhow—and bar nothing! For that is the American spirit. Back that spirit NOW . . . and back the 5th War Loan to the limit! It's for Invasion! It's for Victory!

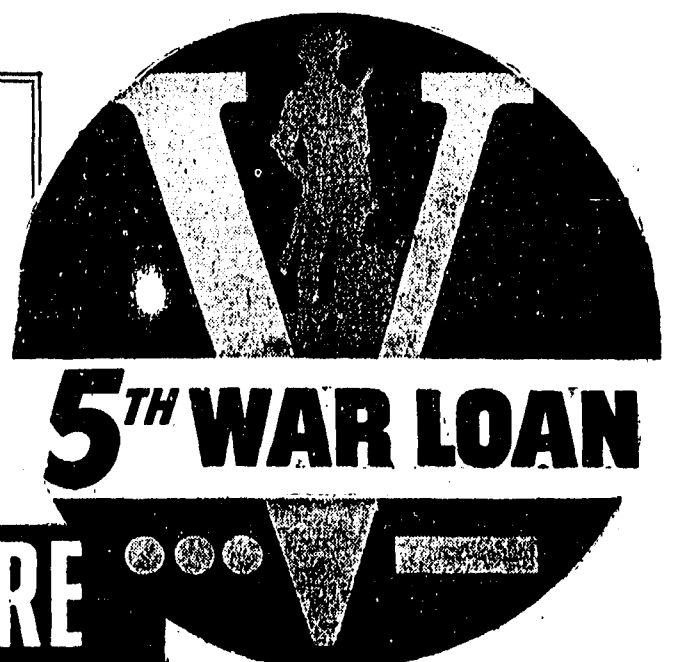

Now is the time! The job is big—and every moment counts. Go to your regular War Bond sales outlet. Buy all you can—and then more! More than you've ever bought before. Invest not only out of current income but out of idle and accumulated funds. This is the biggest job America has ever had to do! Let's show our fighting men we can do it!

Merrill, Hampton, Iowa, is attached to the 103rd Division at Camp Howze. The newlyweds have been employed by the Gainesville Western Union office for more than a year. She graduated from Rice High school in June, 1942. The couple will reside in Gainesville for the present.

Use Of Gelatine In Laundering Rayons Subject Corbet Club

A discussion on the use of gelatin in laundering rayon materials was given by Mrs. Sam Tucker at the Corbet Home Demonstration Club Tuesday. The directions she gave were as follows: Every gelatin powder has been soaked a few minutes in a small quantity of cold water, the solution is added to boiling water. The rayon article is gently squeezed in the solution, and rolled in a thick, absorbent towel until dry enough to iron with low heat. An apron grab box was sponsored by the club. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. F. Roman and Mrs. Sam Tucker as hostesses.

Cleaning, Pressing At Home Discussed By Chapman Ranch Club

Cleaning and pressing at home was under discussion at the Chapman Ranch home demonstration club Friday in the home of Mrs. Joe Saunders. Special emphasis was given to the care and washing of war time stockings, sweaters and rayon materials. The observations made were that such materials should be washed in lukewarm water with a mild soap, and should receive careful handling. Refreshments carrying out the Flag Day motif were served. Jack Anderson, Mrs. Jarvis Hurt and Mrs. Adrian Mayo were guests. Mrs. Bill Tekell will be hostess to the post-war planning meeting on July 7, with Mrs. Cecil Johnson as leader. Mrs. D. B. Bennett, president, announced.

DAR Committee Announces Judge For Horse Show

The judge for the Victory Horse Show has been named according to announcement by the Junior Committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution, sponsoring organization.

Claude Drew of Columbia, Missouri, will serve as judge for the gaited horses. Drew has extensive farming and livestock interests in Columbia, and he has had vast experience in breeding, showing, and judging all types of the American Saddle Horse. He has judged shows in Chicago, St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Eau Claire, Wisconsin, Springfield, Missouri, and many other places of note. He has assisted in judging at the Missouri State Fair at Sedalia. Another judge for the stock horse classes will be named at a later date.

The committee sponsoring the Victory Horse Show feels that it is very fortunate to have such a competent man as judge. His presence here will lend authenticity and prestige to the show. The tickets are now on sale at the prices 85 cents and 35 cents. The proceeds will be donated to the local fund of the American Red Cross.

The show will be held at the arena at the Fair grounds on July 3 and 4 at 8:00 p.m. The trophies which will be awarded on these two nights are on display in the Navarro Drug Store window. The public is invited to see them there before show time.

IN UNIFORM

John W. Read, Jr., C. P. O. with Navy Seabees, does not think that his two years in the torrid zone of the Southwest Pacific is sufficient contribution to the war effort, so in today's mail his father, John W. Read, Sr., of 720 West Thirtieth Avenue, received $300.00 in money orders, with the request that it be invested in War Bonds. John has recently been confined to the hospital in Australia with malaria fever, but is now able to join his battalion.

Henry Ellis Haley has just finished his boot training at the Great Lakes Naval Station, Great Lakes, Illinois, and is now on a nine-day leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. her son Henry was being given Haley. When it was discovered only a five-day leave, Mrs. Haley departed Friday for Chicago to be with him. However, last minute orders included a nine day leave, so Henry was able to make the trip home. Mrs. Haley was paged at Denton, and now the family is together in Corsicana. Henry Haley was the recipient of the Whiteside scholarship to the University of Texas in 1941-42 and 1942-43. He received the award for the 1943-44 term also.

Betty Blake, known as "the prettiest girl in Arkansas," was born in Rogers, Ark. Rogers married her there Nov. 25, 1908. Three children survive: Will Rogers, Jr., former congressman and now an actor; James Rogers, acting publisher of the Beverly Hills Citizen; and Miss Mary Rogers, who resided with her mother. Members of the family said they believe Lt. Rogers is overseas, or en route.

James Edward Johnson, 17, 5-20, U. S. Navy, is now attending the Air Technical Training Center, Norman, Okla., where he is specializing in radio. He is making an excellent record and stands seventh in his class. The son of Mrs. Mae Johnson, he entered the service April 17, 1944, shortly before completing his course of study at the Corsicana high school.

Lieut. Raymond Brown, U. S. Army Air Forces, now stationed in the China Burma India Theater of Operation, recently sent his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bon Brown, 104 North Fifteenth street, some Chinese paper money as souvenirs. In his letter he said the $50 bill was worth only twenty-five cents in American money and the 100 yuan bill carried a one half cent value. He also said you could hire a Chinese servant for $3 a month.

Mrs. Bobbie Jean Willis has received word from her husband, Pvt. Howard Willis, that he has arrived safely in New Guinea. Before being sent overseas he was stationed at Camp Travis. Pvt. Willis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Willis. He was an employee of North American before being inducted into the armed forces Nov. 8, 1943.

Mrs. Hall W. Grimmer has received a letter from a "buddy" of her husband who was wounded in the army May 29, in Italy and who will be hospitalized for ten weeks somewhere in Italy. The letter, written by Sam T. Jackson states, "Buck is OK. He was my platoon sergeant and was perhaps the best loved and most highly respected non-com in the battalion. Personally I do not know his equal for courage and leadership. He broke his arm, and although it is painful, he is otherwise well and healthy."

Alvin Prince, U. S. Merchant Marine, has finished training at St. Petersburg, Fla., and is now on sea duty. Prince, the son of Ollie Prince of Corsicana, was here on leave two weeks ago. He entered the merchant marine April 9, 1944. Prince graduated from Corsicana High School at mid term, 1944, after being a star football back the Tiger football club, and participating in basketball several seasons.

Mrs. Will Rogers Died Last Night At Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 22.—(P)—Will Rogers' widow, whom he courted on a bicycle and whom he called "my first sweetheart," is dead.

Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers, 65, succumbed at the Rogers ranch home in Santa Monica canyon last night. Relatives said she had been ill for several weeks, and that she suffered a severe attack of influenza in Washington, D. C., during the winter.

Rogers, whose crinkly smile and quick wit won him fame as humorist and philosopher, was killed with Wiley Post in an Alaska plane crash in 1935. A month ago today, his body was entombed at Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Okla., his home town. Mrs. Rogers' body likewise will be interred there.

Betty Blake, known as "the prettiest girl in Arkansas," was born in Rogers, Ark. Rogers married her there Nov. 25, 1908. "LIQUID BITE"
10-2 & 4 O'CLOCK
ENERGY LIFT BECOMING
NATIONAL CUSTOM

Diet researchers now agree that six "meals" are better than three, a theory advanced by Dr. Pepper 17 years ago.

Was it an accident, or the work of genius? Why should it have happened in Waco, Texas, in 1887? But happen it did, and today we are blessed with the world's most distinctive 6¢ carbonated beverage.

A Waco druggist pondered the fickleness of human taste. To keep customers more permanently pleased, he experimented with flavor combinations. One day he hit upon a peculiar blend of tarts, sweets, acids, essences and aromatics.

It was an instantaneous hit. Strangely, its taste appeal was constant... never cloying nor boring to the palate. Still a top favorite in Waco after 50 years.

The formula was refined, improved, patented, demand grew rapidly. In 1927, new management recognized Dr. Pepper's merits, not only as a drink, but as a quick-energy food... created the now famous phrase "Drink a Bite to Eat at 10, 2 and 4 O'Clock."

The idea seemed fanciful, but experience proved it sound; it caught on and succeeded enormously. The industry generally recognized it. Today soft drinks represent the fifth largest volume in the food field.

In later years, scientific researchers confirmed the theory. Early in World War II, nutrition experts urged supplemental feeding between meals to stimulate industrial production.

Dr. Pepper is a big favorite as a 6¢ liquid snack... thrilling to taste... constant in appeal... easy to digest... a jiffy-quick energy-lift. It's not only pleasant, but smart to drink a bite to eat at 10, 2 and 4 o'clock... or any time you're hungry, thirsty and tired.

Two Fighter Aces Are Graduates Of Corsicana Field

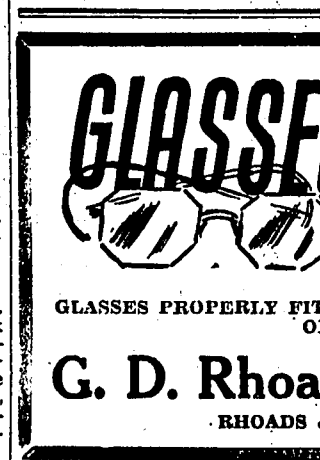

Corsicana Field has more than passing interest in an Associated Press story from the 15th Army Air Force headquarters, New Guinea, yesterday detailing a contest between a couple of majors for the fighter aces' leadership in the Southwest Pacific. Both are native Texans and both received their primary combat pilot training at the local air school. They are Major Thomas B. McGuire, Jr., San Antonio, Class 42-B, finishing here in September, 1944, and Major Jay T. Robbins of Coolidge (Limestone county), who finished here with Class 42-F, February, 1942. Robbins was a student officer and McGuire was an aviation cadet. Robbins also is a graduate of Texas A. and M. College.

Each ace is credited with 20 enemy planes destroyed. The Associated Press said two other pilots had exceeded that figure and one had equalled the mark, but were not now in active service in the Southwest Pacific.

PRIDE AND SKILL WORTHY OF A DRINK SO SUPERB

Dr. Pepper is a liquid food. As such, its makers are keenly aware of their public responsibility. Always the management has adhered to an exacting ideal in standards of quality, purity and uniformity.

The flavor is unique. Ingredients are costly, some rare; only the finest are good enough. All are laboratory tested; compounded with scientific precision and unerring skill to assure perfection.

COSTLY INGREDIENTS—From many sources, stored in refrigerated "Treasure Vaults"—prepared for compounding, stored in stainless steel tanks until drawn off.

MEASURED BY WEIGHT—Each item, after careful testing for purity and strength, is weighed for precise accuracy, rigid adherence to formula and exact uniformity.

EXCLUSIVE "HEAT PROCESS"—Steam-jacketed, glass-lined kettles combine pure sugar and distilled water into simple syrup. After refrigeration, flavor is added.

LABORATORY ON GUARD—Raw materials are pre-tested... finished syrup is checked constantly and accuracy is frequently checked to maintain standards.

MODERN BOTTLING—Franchised plants are frequently inspected by field men to check conformity and accuracy; the products tested by headquarters laboratory.

PROTECTED PACKAGING—Finished syrup drawn through copper tubing to clean barrels with protective lining. Duplicate labels are filed for the office record.

CUSTOM MIXED DR. PEPPER—A popular favorite of the soda fountain, Dr. Pepper syrup to the fountain trade is distributed in sealed glass containers through more than 1,000 jobbers coast to coast.

Double Execution Set For July 9th

HUNTSVILLE, June 22.—(AP)—A double execution—the first in several years—is set for the death chamber of the Huntsville unit of the Texas prison system on July 9.

Two negroes, David Williams, convicted of criminal assault in Travis county, and Bennie Johnson, convicted of murder in Chambers county, are to die on that date.

Leaves From a War Correspondent's Notebook

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH (Substituting for Hal Boyle) HEADQUARTERS, Fourteenth N. S. Airforce, China.—(AP)—Military transport flying in that theater has provided a plenty of excitement for the C-47, but none more exacting than a one-mile, upside-down dive by a transport in the hands of 21-year-old Flight Officer Walter F. Hasley of Fort Myers, Fla.

The dive was not of his making. It was the work of a thunderbolt such as might have torn another plane to pieces. But hear the story in his own words:

"We took off at 12:10 p. m. Ten minutes out it looked like we would have to return to the field because of the rain and turbulence. "We came back over the radio station at 12,000 feet and the tower told us that a B-25 (bomber) was somewhere up there in the pattern with poor contact and that we should stay for a while at 12,000."

"As we passed the radio cone over the station, heading South, we hit an updraft. The rate of climb indicator showed we were going up 2,000 feet a minute. We were pressed in our seats like we were pulling out of a dive.

"I shoved the stick forward trying to level off. We rose several hundred feet and did a half-snap roll that is, turned on our back. Then we hit the downdraft and started a dive.

"The gyro-compass spilled. The other instruments went crazy. Cigarette butts went floating toward the ceiling. A radio headset came off its hook and dangled in front of my face. The airspeed indicator stood at 300 miles an hour, with the needle against the end pin.

"I gave her left aileron and left rudder, trying to pull out. The rudder resistance was terrific because of our speed.

"We pulled out all right, but the wings buckled part way. The wing covering, I found later, was all crumpled and wavy. Wing but bolts were loose and some of them had to be tightened, but they all held.

"We pulled out and into a climb. When I looked at the altimeter again we were at 6,300 feet. The mountains in the vicinity run between 3,000 and 4,000.

"I talked to Hasley after he had flown the damaged plane back to this base.

"It will take a factory servicing, but it will fly," he said. "I had to give it everything I could to get it off the ground and it had a few quivers in it. It tended to stall out, at less than 150 miles an hour, on account of the shape the wings were in, but it flew."

Military Titles

Barred From Texas Primary Ballot

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 22.—(AP)—No military titles may appear on the ballot for the July 22 primary, George A. Butler, chairman, Charles E. Simons, secretary, of the Democratic state executive committee, announced, answering a question put by Meredith Queen, Nueces county chairman.

The Corpus Christi Call-Times said political observers here interpret Queen's action as a move to identify John E. Lyle, army captain and former state representative, by his military title on the ballot.

The newspaper said Capt. Lyle has been advanced by friends as an opponent of Rep. Richard M. Kleberg, seeking re-election as Democratic congressman from the 14th Congressional district.

Red Cross Arranged Reunion Of Brothers

That the American Red Cross overseas is constantly performing thousands of tasks, large and small, in order to keep our fighting men comfortable and happy was again proven in a letter recently received by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Allard of Dawson, Texas.

The letter was written by William B. Cruise, director American Red Cross, presumably in the European theater of operations, and disclosed that the director had successfully arranged for a meeting of Wayne Allard, and Charles ("Garland") Allard, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Allard, somewhere over there.

Written on May 28, the letter read in part, "It is needless for me to tell you both boys were very happy to be together, and both were in fine physical condition. x x x I have known Wayne a long time, as he has been coming here to the club since its opening. We have developed a very strong friendship, which I trust may be a lasting one."

"I know that you are very proud of your two boys, and you have every reason to be. I know, too, that you are looking forward to their return, and they are likewise look forward to that day, which I hope may not be too far distant." Cruise concluded his letter.

Pioneer Surveyor Dies San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, June 22.—(AP)—John James Goodfellow Sr., 37, Southwest surveyor whose son gave him his name to Goodfellow Field, died at his home here yesterday following a long illness.

Appointed a deputy surveyor in Tarrant county in 1880, Goodfellow was city engineer of Fort Worth and Tarrant county engineers. He moved to San Angelo in 1887.

Surviving are the widow, a daughter, Mrs. H. Massey, San Angelo, a sister, Mrs. Kossetta Lucas of grapevine and two grandsons.

Goodfellow Field here was named for a son, Lt. J. J. Goodfellow who was killed in France in World War I.

WAR LABOR BOARD TO GET DISPUTE OF BOWEN BUS DRIVERS

SAN ANTONIO, June 22.—(AP)—The war labor board will be asked to settle a dispute between Bowen Trailways drivers and their employers after 50 employees returned to work following a strike over the reported discharge of another employee.

J. D. Welsh, superintendent of operators of the Bowen Trailways said local 1142 of the Amalgamated street railway and motor coach employees, AFL, decided to turn the problem of settlement over to the WLB.

The drivers, who stopped work late Tuesday, returned to work yesterday afternoon. Bowen bus lines were at a standstill in and out of San Antonio yesterday.

B. R. Wayne, secretary and business manager for the union, said the trouble was caused by transfer of an employee from the operating division to the maintenance division and his subsequent discharge. He said this was a violation of their contract.

GENERAL TRUSCOTT HAS DISTINGUISHED MILITARY CAREER

NATIVE OF CHATFIELD HE ENTERED SERVICE DURING WORLD WAR I

Major General Lucian K. Truscott, 49, hero of Anzio Beach, Italy, native of Chatfield, Navarro county, was the subject of a special dispatch appearing recently in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram under the headline, "The General Who Lives at the 'Willow Acres' home at Charlotteville, Va. The Truscotts have one daughter and two sons."

Born at Chatfield, Tex., the son of the late Dr. Lucian King Truscott, a native Texan, and Mrs. Marie Tully Truscott, a Kentuckian, he was born Jan. 9, 1895, at Chatfield, in Navarro county. The family moved to Oklahoma when he was six years old. After attending Oklahoma State Normal School, Truscott obtained a teaching position in 1911 and held it for six years. He was teaching when World War I broke out. He volunteered and was commissioned a second lieutenant, Aug. 22, 1917, after completing the third officers training camp at Fort Logan H. Roots, Ark.

In Regular Army, Truscott chose the regular army instead of a reserve commission and was assigned to the 17th Cavalry at Douglas, Ariz., remaining with that regiment, which moved to Hawaii in April, 1919, until October, 1921. He served with the First Cavalry at Douglas, Ariz., and with the 8th Cavalry for four months. He then attended troop officers and special equitation classes at Fort Riley, Kansas, where he remained four years as an instructor, and later served four years as an instructor at the command and general staff school at Fort Leavenworth.

In August, 1940, General Truscott was assigned to the 13th Armored Cavalry at Fort Knox, Ky. He served on the staff of the 9th Army Corps at Fort Lewis, Wash., in 1941, and was named commanding officer of the 6th Cavalry at Fort Bliss in November of that year. In May, 1942, he joined the staff of Lord Louis Mountbatten in London and was the ranking American officer on the Dieppe Commando raid on August 18. Meanwhile he had planned the organization of the American Rangers, and shared in the planning of that entire and primarily British operation.

In September, 1942, he was given a brigade as a task force under Maj. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., and landed at Port Lyautey, French Morocco, early in November, 1942, with the North African invasion. In January, 1943, he was promoted to major general.

Field Deputy. During the early days of the Tunisian campaign, he was General Eisenhower's field deputy. In March, he assumed command of the Third Infantry Division, which he led in Sicily and in the early part of the Italian campaign.

After a second German counter-attack had almost hurled the Allied troops into the sea, he took command of the entire Fifth Army beachhead forces, and so decisively beat back the third German counter-attack, the Germans went on the defensive until the recent general Allied offensive swept the invaders

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR INFANT HELD TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian H. Warren, who died at the Navarro Clinic Monday night, were held from the Corley Chapel Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dillard W. Thurman, minister of the Church of Christ, conducted the rites and interment was in Oakwood cemetery.

Surviving are the parents, Corsicana; grandmothers, Mrs. J. W. Ewing, Corsicana; Mrs. John Warren, Corsicana; grandfathers, J. A. Rogers, Corsicana; Ed. Warren, Tom Ball, and other relatives.

back beyond Rome. Handsome, gray-haired and husky voiced, Truscott is a noted horseman. He managed regimental polo teams, and his sportsmanship and qualities as a leader were credited with influencing both older and younger officers.

Decorated. Truscott holds the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in the Sicilian campaign. On July 11, 1943, near Agrigento, in directing the operation which expanded the Third Division's L-cata beachhead, he repeatedly exposed himself to intense artillery, mortar and small arms fire. When certain elements were temporarily halted by an enemy counterattack, he calmly assumed personal command, ordered a renewal of the attack and regained the initiative. He already had received the Distinguished Service Medal for brilliant organizational and administrative work leading to the capture of Port Lyautey. For his work with the British, he was awarded the English Order of the Bath. He also earned the Purple Heart when he was wounded.

Lieut. Alva Reid of Marfa flew to Corsicana Sunday to attend the annual Reid reunion held in the City Park. Lieut. Reid is an advanced trainer instructor at Marfa and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reid of Arp.

John McAdams Now Midshipman in U. S. Naval Academy

John McAdams, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McAdams, passed his final tests this week and is now a midshipman at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., according to information received by his parents late Tuesday.

A graduate of Corsicana High, McAdams was a junior in electrical engineering at the University of Texas and recently received an appointment to the academy from Congressman Luther A. Johnson. McAdams was an alternate and received the appointment when the principal failed to meet all requirements.

MOVEMENT STARTED UNITE ANTI-FOURTH TERM DEMOCRATS

CHICAGO, June 22.—(P)—The American Democratic National Committee today began its movement to unite anti-fourth term Democratic groups by a merger and to hold their own convention if the Democratic party renominates President Roosevelt.

Robert O'Brien, secretary of the ADNC, said invitations would be issued to these groups: The Southern Anti-New Deal Association, a Louisiana organization; the Southern Democratic Party of South Carolina; American Nationalists headed by Senator Robert Reynolds (D-NC), and an unnamed group from Texas which O'Brien termed "insurgent Democrats."

Their conviction probably will follow the July 19 convention in Chicago of the Democrats "by one or more weeks," O'Brien said, and added that the proposed meeting would be held in a Southern city not yet chosen.

Mrs. Ina Cruise, Mrs. Annette Mims and J. M. Dyer of the J. M. Dyer Company have returned from Eastern markets, where they have been purchasing fall merchandise.

CONNALLY SAYS SOUTH CAN WORK OUT OWN PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(P)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) in voting to cut off funds to finance the fair employment practices committee, declared the South could amicably work out its own racial relations if left alone by the agency.

"But if we intrude the arm of the government, the mailed fist, into these relationships, we shall breed dissension, we shall breed trouble," he asserted.

The Texan was one of the 21 Senators who voted in favor of an amendment to strike the $500,000 provision from the war agencies appropriation bill. The amendment was defeated with 38 votes cast against it.

Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.), who was in Chicago where he had been making addresses before the American Democratic party caucus and the union league club, was paired with Senator Buck (R-Del) on the roll call vote. It was announced on the floor that O'Daniel had been present, he would have voted in favor of the amendment and Buck would have voted in the negative.

COMMISSIONERS IN AUSTIN WEDNESDAY ON ROAD BUSINESS

County Commissioners Jim Taylor of Corsicana, Byron M. Copeland of Purley, and Drew Gillem of Blooming Grove and Robert G. Dillard, secretary-manager of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, were in Austin Wednesday before the Texas Highway Commission in the interest of the securing of the old Corsicana-Emhouse-Ennis road being designated as a farm-to-market road.

Should the state agree to take over this road, this classification, the Chambers Creek bridge will be repaired. All-weather roads extend the entire route between Corsicana and Ennis via Emhouse and this would give another emergency outlet for Highway 75 in the event of high water in the Chambers Creek bottoms north of Corsicana when levees break.

This old route originally was Highway 14 designation and was maintained as its main north-south highway in this area until the present slab was constructed on the route via Rice.

Texas Is Wounded Prisoner. SAN ANGELO, June 22.—(P)—Sgt. Stratton Beesley, previously reported missing over France April 20, is wounded and is a prisoner of war, his mother, Mrs. Hazel Beesley, has been advised.

WE HAVE ADDED

To our shop equipment, one STEAM CLEANER of the latest type and can now clean your tractors and trucks perfectly before working them over or painting them - - - this totals more than two thousand dollars of extra equipment we have added to our shop in the past six months. We can now clean, overhaul and paint your machinery and return it to you running and looking just like new.

Repair Service

—Is a great object that should be well considered when buying a new tractor or truck, also implements—for without a small part you can lose many days of valuable time.

Just to give you a small insight as to what we are doing for our customers in the way of furnishing repairs—We have sold the past two months more than ten thousand dollars of repairs only. These go not only to Navarro county but to portions of surrounding counties. It is a great relief for a customer to know when he breaks a part or wears out a part of his machinery he can find it at his nearby dealer's house.

We Still Have a Good Stock of Parts

Will have plenty of hay press blocks by the time you read this. Call on us for them.

Billion Dollar Program Of Flood Control Approved

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(P)—A $1,000,000,000 program of flood control work after the war was approved today by the senate commerce committee.

The committee in approving an omnibus bill previously passed by the house added 28 more projects as well as provision for a Missouri river commission. The bill, if finally enacted, simply would authorize the work for postwar construction. Subsequent congressional appropriations would be necessary to get it started. The Missouri river commission, to be operated within the war department, would be charged with planning, constructing, operating and maintaining improvements for navigation and flood control on the river.

CROP PROSPECTS IN TEXAS IMPROVED DURING PAST WEEK

AUSTIN, June 21.—(P)—Crop prospects improved generally and farm work progressed at rapid pace in the week ended June 19, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today.

Dry weather was particularly advantageous in the Eastern half of the state affording the first opportunity since early May for general, uninterrupted activity in planting, replanting and cultivating.

Harvesting of small grains, hay, early peaches, tomatoes, watermelons and other vegetables was active under mostly favorable conditions. Soil moisture and temperatures were generally favorable for plant growth.

Wheat harvest was well advanced in many low rolling plains counties. The week was mostly favorable for cotton.

Progress of the corn crop was improved but the condition was still very spotted through Central and East Texas.

Grain sorghum harvest started in South Texas and very satisfactory yields were reported in prospect.

Vegetable harvest made good headway and growing crops improved materially. Conditions were favorable for active harvest of tomatoes in all early areas of East Texas but yields were generally light.

Potatoes were moving in good volume from all late spring areas. Range feeds and pasturage were furnishing good to excellent grazing through most of the state except in a few far Western counties.

Stock water supplies were satisfactory or improved except in limited West Texas areas. Livestock were in generally good condition.

Old Letter. Mrs. Sallie Noel, 619 North Fifteenth street, exhibited at the Sun office Wednesday a letter written April 18, 1884.

Written by her uncle R. H. Stanley, the letter was to G. W. Stanley, brother, who lived in Wynnboro, Wood county, the writer discussed crop condition at that time and other matters of interest to the family.

A change of residence will take Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benson and daughter, Katherine Ann, from Wortham to Crockett at an early date.

Germans Trapped In Cherbourg Area Says Sec. Stimson

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(P)—American forces in the Cherbourg peninsula have trapped elements of three German divisions in the Normandy port and its environs, War Secretary Stimson reported today.

The "striking advances" which gave the doughboys possession of the entire neck of the peninsula were credited in large part by the secretary to British and Canadian operations at the southeastern end of the Normandy front. The Allied forces there "so engaged the enemy that he had no uncommitted strength to threaten the American corridor."

These British and Canadian forces, Stimson told a news conference, not only repelled German counter-attacks but drove forward to enlarge their own holdings. "During this period we have thus been able to build up our own armies on the continent in very strong fashion. Men and equipment, including heavy arms, have been landed on the beaches in amazing volume. Gales over the channel had interfered at times with this traffic, but the weather has not been too serious an impediment," the secretary said.
